Aracida Aracida, Two-Miami Beach newspaper men are at a tangle with the courts down there because they dared to question some of the things the courts did in recent trials where prominent citizens were charged with participation in gambling rackets.

Miami is said to have gone hog-wild this winter over gambling, and subsona rumor has it that many officials are in it up to their necks. Little wonder that question some of the things the courts did in recent trials where prominent citizens were charged with participation in gambling rackets.

Apparently the thing the Miami Beach newspaper men are guilty of is saying the things that a great many people think. A town is in a sad plight when a newspaper is forbidden to criticize such things as some of the courts down there are doing.

Leesburg Commercial: Times must be decidedly on the mend or there would not be so much disagreement over details of NRA and recovery plans. Democratic leaders falling out with the president and utter lack of unanimity among those at the heads of the various departments is a sure sign that the old staidness has safely faded the roasting stand and they can throw the expert driver out if they so wish.

Reminds us of the story of the English baronet who took his cockney into his office, bought him a new suit, shoes and cap and made him office boy. Next day the boy failed to show up. Having his address the baronet went to the home and found the old mother over the washbasin. "You see," she replied to his query about the boy. "Benny looked so spruced up like in the new clothes I thought, as he ought to try to get a better job."

Dedley Beach News: Nearly everybody agrees that there are too many laws. Yet our legislators continue to pass new laws at such a rapid rate that it takes a bright lawyer to keep up with even a single state. The Florida Legislature will soon meet and will probably have proposed a law for passage a couple of thousand or more bills and will pass several hundred.

We propose for just once a different kind of legislature. Instead of passing laws, it would repeal laws.

Prizes would be given in several classes. There would be a prize for the member digging out and revealing the largest number of laws, and for the member finding the greatest number of conflicting laws, for the member finding the greatest number of laws hopelessly out of date, and for the member finding the greatest number of laws granting special privileges to corporations or groups.

Marianna Times-Courier: The merchants of Marianna, when approached for legitimate newspaper advertising which would bring increased business to their stores, state that they do not need to advertise or that they are planning an advertising campaign for the very near future, but do not care the place any advertising at the moment.

Yet, when some advertising racketeer prances into their store with an advertising placard which will be hung up on some inconspicuous corner a week or two and then torn down, they gleefully follow anywhere from a dollar to five dollars, to have the name of their store placed on this "classified directory" of which there will be perhaps a hundred printed.

These placards will be seen by perhaps a few hundred people and of these few hundred perhaps ten will read the placard over and then immediately forget about it. If the merchant would place his advertisement in a newspaper it would go into hundreds of homes, reaching the newspaper holder a place of honor, and be read by thousands of people.

Why our merchants will fall for these rackets, and why the Marianna Merchants' association allows them to be worked here, is beyond us, for ninety per cent of the money collected goes to the promoter and ten per cent remains in the city, going to the printer and some one organization which is supposed to be the sponsor of the racket.

We don't know the answer to this—perhaps our merchants can tell us.

Your action becomes my business when its influence reaches me or society.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By Russell Kay.

The other morning while driving to the office I passed a local theatre and was amazed to see a line of women in front of the door, and the line was quickly a block in length.

It was eight o'clock in the morning and furthermore it was a darned cold morning, yet these women were standing there patiently waiting for the doors to open.

"What is it," I asked. "One of those WOMEN ONLY sex things?" "No," a cop replied, "it's a dame giving a lecture on how to buy and cook meat."

Then I remembered seeing announcements in the Tribune about a cooking school and an invitation to housewives to come and learn how to select meats, how to prepare new meat dishes and so on.

The lady who was providing this novel form of entertainment I learned was employed by the Meat Packers' Institute, an organization supported by the meat industry to increase the consumption of meat.

Her particular job was to get folks to eat MEAT MEAT MEAT. She didn't care whether you were a Jew, whether Aracida, Wilson or somebody else's, just so long as you ate MEAT.

During her stay in the city the local newspapers ran column after column about the meat products; her picture was featured in a dozen different advertisements. Tampa housewives were made meat conscious.

And this same program is carried on day in and day out in cities all over the country to get folks to eat MEAT MEAT MEAT. The packers don't suppose this sort of nation-wide campaign to advertise their own brands. They go right on telling MEAT before you are concerned about WHOSE MEAT.

Another great industry that has succeeded in getting its product in the mind of the average citizen is the citrus industry. These other institutions are doing for their respective groups.

People of the nation can be made Florida Citrus conscious, just as they have been made Meat conscious or Paint conscious. Florida citrus growers and shippers have a more appealing and more interesting story to tell. They have a superior product, it possesses more food value, greater value.

The Florida Citrus Institute affords us an opportunity to present a united front in our appeal to the people. All teachers and those we may quarrel among ourselves about packing, shipping and marketing. Individual and marketing agencies can continue to advertise their own brands as they do now, citrus growers can sell their fruit in the tree, ship it through the Exchange or through the agency and still support and benefit from the work of the Florida Citrus Institute.

A few cents a box invested in urging folks to eat more Florida citrus fruit will stimulate the market, increase consumption and bring greater returns to growers and shippers alike. Let's get together just ONCE for the welfare of this great industry.

TO ESTABLISH BIG TERMINAL FOR OIL

PANAMA CITY, Mar. 7.—(FNS)—Plans were announced by J. A. Streyer, general manager of the Standard Oil company of Kentucky, for the establishment of a large terminal here.

The company has purchased 100 acres on the waterfront and will immediately begin construction of the terminal which manager Streyer said will represent an investment of several million dollars.

Plans call for the construction of water terminals, warehouses, a storage tank of 125,000 gallon capacity, office buildings and a 100-foot channel to the bay. Facilities when completed will provide for movement of 300 tank cars a month.

Officials of Panama City are elated over the selection of their city as the terminal for Standard Oil and it is felt that this development will mean much not only to the community itself but to the entire section.

WOULD REVISE TAX SYSTEM OF STATE

JACKSONVILLE, Mar. 7.—(FNS)—Sponsoring a complete revision of Florida's antiquated tax structure the Florida Tax Revision League announces the opening of state headquarters in the Graham Building, Jacksonville.

Buckley Chipley, formerly of west Florida but now a resident of Jacksonville, is president of the new organization and stated that a long range program had been worked out toward a "complete revision of the tax structure of the state of Florida, to equitably distribute the tax burden to all the people and effectively reduce the cost of government."

The need for a revision of the state's tax structure is generally recognized and many members of the legislature have expressed themselves as favorable to a revision.

In his campaign for the Homestead Exemption Amendment, Senator Wm. C. Hodges pointed out that its adoption would undoubtedly be a step toward a complete new tax system.

The Florida Tax Revision League according to Mr. Chipley is supported by a large group of the state's leading citizens. It is anticipated that its program will have the support of a majority of the legislature.

"The program of our organization," Mr. Chipley said, "is entirely in line with the principles of President Roosevelt's Recovery Program."

"With a modern, equitable tax system the cost of state and local government in Florida can be reduced at least 25 percent or more than twenty-five million dollars a year, and still render all the services which the people are entitled to."

Dr. J. L. Marshall, district superintendent of the Miami district will be here March 17, and will present at 11 a. m. and hold a quarterly conference at 2:30 p. m.

At that time delegates to the annual conference will be elected.

The annual conference will be held this year in Miami beginning May 1st.

SEMINOLE COUNTY CARE OF WOMAN

DANIA, Mar. 7.—(FNS)—Miss Agnes Fitzgerald has been appointed superintendent of the Federal Indian Reservation in Florida in charge of the 600 Seminole still under government care in Florida.

Rev. J. L. Glenn who has been in charge of the local reservation will remain here as finance and special disbursing clerk.

Miss Fitzgerald has had wide experience in Indian affairs in Oklahoma and Wisconsin.

TAMPA BREAKS POSTAL RECORD

TAMPA, Mar. 7.—(FNS)—Two year postal receipt records were broken here last month, it was announced by Postmaster Edgar Wall when receipts for the month of February, 1935, reached a total of $15,422.00, showing a gain of $2,270.00 over the same month of 1934 and an increase of $10,000.00 over the same month in 1933.

Postmaster Wall stated that 1935 promised to be a banner year for the post office and territory in charge of the 600 Seminole still under government care in Florida.

FOOD PRICES ON THE RISE IN STATE

JACKSONVILLE, Mar. 7.—(FNS)—AN PERA survey of living costs in the state recently released by Julius F. Stone discloses that in the territory west of the Chattahoochee River food prices were slightly lower in January than in December or November, in the district from there east to Jacksonville costs remained the same.

In the southwest Tampa to Ft. Myers an increase of 3 percent is shown, and in southeast Florida, Miami area, a decrease of 1 percent.

Interesting however was the fact that comparatively food prices are 16 percent higher in Miami than in Pensacola, 12 percent higher than Jacksonville and 9 percent higher than Tampa.

FAIRS HAVE PROVED "CROP-COMMUNITY" SPEEDY IN FLORIDA

Mullet in the spring and sweet potatoes in the fall were given by early settlers of Florida as reasons why they could survive famine, pestilence, storm and war. In more modern times a greatly increased diversity of products has helped the people of the state quickly to overcome calamities and losses.

When the December freeze came in 1934, a well-known author was sojourning for the winter near Bradenton, in Manatee County.

After he had been in his home for a few days, he described the severity of the cold and outlined the damage it had done. After just a few weeks, the writer sent the editor another communication and wrote:

"On the side of you to come and have fellowship with us in the worship of God."

CUT RATES ARE DENIED BY COURT

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 7.—(FNS)—Permission granted the St. Johns River Line to handle freight by truck from Sanford to Tampa with rates ten percent lower than those charged by other railroads was denied when the State Supreme Court quashed the Florida State Railroad Commission's order. Since the last line is operating a truck service, the court held it became to all intents and purposes an automobile transportation company and is not entitled to reduced rates.

WANT RACE TRACK MONEY AS USUAL

TAMPA, Feb. 28.—(FNS)—In a letter to Governor Dave Sholtz, Hillsborough county commissioners registered a vigorous protest to any new abatement of this season's state race track revenue.

This action was taken when information was received from Tallahassee that disbursement of the funds might be held up until after the legislature meets in April.

In the letter of protest the commissioners state they have budgeted the anticipated share of state race track revenue.

The Hillsborough county budget for the current year anticipated $130,000.00 from race track revenue which is appropriated to the road and bridge fund.

Chairman Walter Donovan of the state racing commission recently stated that each county would realize close to $150,000.00 from the race track fund this year according to commissioner Fernandez on whose motion the letter of objection was written to Governor Sholtz.

NEW REFRIGERATOR STANDS HEAT TEST

Before a large group of magazine and newspaper reporters and writers Dr. Philip Thomas, noted scientist credited with lighting A Century of Progress by means of a gleam of light taken from the star, Arcturus, subjected a Westinghouse refrigerator to a dramatic heat test to prove how cold the refrigerator could remain. The test was made at the Waldorf Astoria hotel, New York City.

A large recording thermometer was connected to the inside of the new Westinghouse Streamline refrigerator, now on display at The Hardware Store in Belle Glade. Another was fastened on to the outside of the cabinet. After initial readings had been taken six high-powered Westinghouse electric heaters, arranged in a semicircle around the front of the refrigerator at a distance of 45 feet, were turned on full force.

Although the thermometer on the outside registered 1200 F. after forty-five minutes of the "Turkish Bath," the temperature on the inside of the refrigerator did not rise a single degree. After an hour of heat treatment, the inside temperature was only two degrees higher.

Mr. Betzner, Belle Glade Westinghouse dealer, offers the test to his customers as a convincing argument for the superior insulation of the new Westinghouse, and claims it provides undeniable proof of the refrigerator's low operating cost. He claims, also, that every Westinghouse on display at his store, whether the new Streamline Deluxe, or the inexpensive "Master Series," is as perfectly insulated as the refrigerator tested by Dr. Thomas in New York.

Edith Cantor Cavorts in Egypt in "Kid Millions," New Goldwyn Musical

Edith Cantor, buoy-eyed clown who last week cavorted among chariots and lions in the Rome of the Caesars in "Roman Scandals," this season invades the land of the canals and the pyramids in "Kid Millions," which comes to the Everglades Theatre in Belle Glade on Sunday and Monday.

The comedian's fifth annual screen musical extravaganza for Samuel Goldwyn introduces him as his big sheep of Brooklyn waterfowl who inherits a fortune in buried treasure and travels to Egypt to claim it with Ann Ralston, Ethel Merman, George Murphy, and Block and Shilly, lending "Carnegie," "hotch," and hilarity to the proceedings.

The season's most tuneful song for fun fest, Eddie sings "Olay Toots" and "When My Ship Comes In," both from the pens of Guy Kahn and Walter Doolittle, aided by the new crop of gorgeous Goldwyners, Rev. and Mrs. A. W. in the elaborate Harlan Number and the second in the Technicolor Ice Cream Fantasy which closes the film. Eddie also revives "Mandy," the Irving Berlin smash hit which Cantor introduced in the Zigfield "Follies" of 1915, in a gorgeous gift and song number staged as part of a ship's concert.

Ethel Merman "goes to town" with Kahn and Doolittle's "An Earful of Music" and, in the lavish Point on the fourth Thursday in March and to Delray Beach on the fourth Wednesday in March. A large number plan to go.

Mrs. W. P. Christian, Miss Dorothy Christian, Mack Christian and Bill Christian from Deerfield were guests of the Rev. and Mrs. Taylor last Sunday.

A SCHOOL TRIP TO THE SUGAR MILL

Laymon Hardy, Sixth Grade, South Bay School.

By the courtesy of Mrs. Barstow, last Friday afternoon the fifth and sixth grades of the South Bay school went on a trip to the Sugar Mill of Clewiston, Florida, which is the largest raw sugar mill of the U. S. A. Mr. Arthur Wells of Bean City sent a boy and one of his big trucks to take the children to the mill.

First of all we could see the tall chimney which is several hundred feet high. When we got less than half a mile of the mill we could smell the steam of the cooking cane juice. When we drove up to the mill and stopped we could see a large water pool concerned boiling with spurting water flying in the air.

We all crawled out of the truck and went in the mill. There was a man when being writing cards for us. Finally we found out that we were on guide. His name was Mr. A. P. Love. When we had finished our cards, he took us outside the mill and told us that the big pool of spraying water was a water purifier. The old masty water from the mill is carried out in little ditches to cool and is carried up little pipes and sprayed into the big pool and is carried back to the mill to be used over again.

Next we came to a little house by the railroad where the cane was weighed on the track. There is a man in the little house to read the scales. Just down the track from this little house is a big shed where the track tips over with the car of cane and dumps the cane in a big pit that has a rolling floor to carry the cane to be ground up. There is a fly wheel over the cane level it down. The cane leaves this pit on the rolling floor going to some big knives to be ground up. The juice falls down into a big pan and the pulp goes through some squeezers and then to the furnace to be used as fuel.

When the juice falls in the big pan it goes to a big open container. Then a big skum rises to the top and is drained off. This skum is pressed until all of the juice is out. Then the dried skum is put back in the cane field and is used for fertilizer.

Now the clean juice goes to other containers and is cooked under different temperatures. Finally it begins to show little crystals of sugar. Then it is cooked as low as it will stand without being burned. This sugar mush is put in a centrifugal machine and is turned around eleven hundred times a minute. This breaks the sugar into little grains. Then the machine stops and drops the sugar down into a big shading trough to cool it down.

The sugar is then elevated into a big tank. Down at the bottom of the tank is a huge faucet which changes the sugar sacks and fills them up. There is a negro man who sweeps up the sacks. The sacks are carried to waiting box cars to take it to Savannah, Georgia to be purified into Dixie Crystals sugar.

We had to walk in lines and fours to get about up the narrow stairs. There was such a crowd of us and we did so well that he took us in the power house. Just as we went in I saw a negro man standing at the door of the big furnace. I don't know if anyone else noticed it or not. We saw, in the power house, large generators which work all the machines in the mill. The guide gave us all a little sack of sugar when we left to go home.

FAIRS HAVE PROVED CROP "COME-BACK" SPEEDY IN FLORIDA

ed vegetables as follows: Corn, sweet potatoes, rich, red-headed yams that melt in your mouth, Irish potatoes, including those delicately pink and little "new" ones, okra, wonderful celery, of course, tender spinach that requires under 10 minutes to cook; tomatoes, green, toothsome turnips, mustard plants, spring scallions, radishes without patch, beets like blobs of ruby, tender little new peas, the shells of which crackle with freshness when opened and string beans, man, to delight the bean lover.

Impressions that will prove lasting and convincing, in respect to the capacity of Florida for speedy recovery from major catastrophes affecting agriculture, have been obtained also by seasonal visitors who took in the fairs of the past few weeks. Exhibits and displays of farm, garden and grove products shown at each of these expositions paid tribute to a marvelous manner to the recuperative ability of the state. From the Florida Fair at Tampa, and Orange Festival in Winter Haven, up and down and across the state, sectional, county and community shows have brought out living testimony to the fact that folks here keep on having good things to eat even when suffering heavy losses in crop output. Further, it has been graphically and irrefutably shown that restoration of production in commercial quantities is a matter of weeks rather than of months or years.

Beef can be spoiled and served in more different ways than any other kind of meat.
